Contents

Call for Papers…………………………………………………………………………………………………..5
Submission Guidelines…………………………………………………………………………………..5
Dedication to Joan Digsby……………………………………………………………………………………7
Student Research in Honors
   Joan Digsby………………………………………………………………………………………………9
Editors Introduction
   Ada Long………………………………………………………………………………………………….11

Forum on Research in Honors

Honors Scholarship and Forum for Honors
   Sam Schuman………………………………………………………………………………………….19
Honors Scholarship: Another View
   Ted Estess…………………………………………………………………………………………….25
The Forum for Honors: An Expanded View
   Robert E. Roemer……………………………………………………………………………………29
Honors in Research: Twenty Years Later
   Cheryl Achterberg……………………………………………………………………………………33
Research in Honors and Composition
   Annmarie Guzy……………………………………………………………………………………37

Research in Honors

Simple, Pure, and True: An emergent Vision of Liberal Learning at the Research University
   Peter Sederberg………………………………………………………………………………………43
Honors Research in Nursing: Integration of theory and Evidence Based Practice using Multiple Modalities of Thinking
   Ellen Buckner……………………………………………………………………………………53

Research about Honors

Honors Inc.
   Kelly Younger…………………………………………………………………………………………63
Honors Selection Processes: A Typology and Some Reflection
   Richard Stoller…………………………………………………………………………………………79
Differences between Honors Program and Honors College
   Cheryl Achterberg……………………………………………………………………………………87
The Role of Community College Honors Programs in Reducing Transfer Shock
   Greg Phillips…………………………………………………………………………………………97
Faculty Compensation and Course Assessment in Honors Composition
   Annmarie Guzy……………………………………………………………………………………105
Contents

Call for Papers.................................................................5
Submission Guidelines......................................................5
Dedication to Jocelyn E. Whitehead Jackson.........................7
Editors Introduction
   Ada Long........................................................................9

Forum on "What is Honors?"

What is Honors?
   Dail W. Mullins, Jr........................................................19.

What is an Honors Student?
   Jay Freyman..................................................................23

Teaching Honors
   Sam Schuman...............................................................31

Honors as an Adjective: Response to Jay Freyman.
   Len Zane........................................................................35

What Honors Can Do
   Vince Brewton.............................................................39

Is, Ought, and Honors
   Daniel Pinti..................................................................43

A Way of Life
   Sriram Khe..................................................................47

In Praise of Silence
   Bebe Nickolai...............................................................49

A Student Like Me
   Bonnie D. Irwin...........................................................53

Honors: When Value Added is Really Added Value
   Jacqueline P. Kelleher....................................................55

Portz-Prize-Winning Essay, 2005

Redemptive memory: The Christianization of the Holocaust in America
   Laura Bender Herron.......................................................61

Research Essays

What Honors Students Want (And Expect): The Views of Top Michigan High School and College Students
   James P. Hill...............................................................95
Comparison of the Academic Achievement of First-Year Female Honors Program and Non-Honors Engineering students
Gayle E. Hartleroad.................................................................109

Characteristics of the Contemporary Honors College: A Descriptive Analysis of a Survey of NCHC Member Colleges
Peter C. Sederberg.................................................................121

Book Review
How to Write a BA Thesis: A Practical Guide from your First Ideas to your Finished Paper (Chicago Guides to Writing, Editing, and Publishing) by Charles Lipson
Halle Savage.................................................................139

About the Authors......................................................................141
Publication order forms..........................................................147

Volume 7, No. 1

Contents

Call for Papers.........................................................................5
Submission Guidelines...................................................................7
Dedication to Susanna Finnell.......................................................7
Letter to the Editor
Jay Frey...........................................................................9
Editors Introduction
Ada Long.................................................................11

Forum on “Outcomes Assessment, Accountability, and Honors”

Saving Honors in the Age of Standardization
Linda Frost.................................................................21

Using Learning Outcomes Assessment in Honors as a Defense Against Proposed Standardization Testing
Steffen Wilson.................................................................27

Documenting the Achievements of Our Students without Compromising Excellence
Jean Sorensen.................................................................33

Honors Assessment and Evaluation
Cheryl Achterberg.................................................................37

When it’s Bad Cess to Assess!
Jay Freyman.................................................................41

Accountable to Whom? Assessment to What?
George Mariz.................................................................43

Business and Educational Values
Jeffrey A. Portnoy.................................................................47

Honors as Skunkworks
Paul Strong.................................................................53

They Graduated
Joan Digsby.................................................................57
Research Essays

The Impact of k-12 Gifted Programs on Postsecondary Honors Programming
Jennifer Lane..................................................................................................................63

Creating an Honors Community: A Virtue Ethics Approach
Nancy A. Stanlick...........................................................................................................75

Building a City of Ladies with Christene de Pizan and Arkansas State University Honors Students
Frances M. Malpezzi....................................................................................................93

About the Authors........................................................................................................101
Publication order forms...............................................................................................111

Volume 7, No. 2

Contents

Call for Papers...............................................................................................................5
Submission Guidelines.................................................................................................5
Dedication to Ira Cohen...............................................................................................7
Editors Introduction.
Ada Long....................................................................................................................11

Forum on “Honors Administration”

Honors Program Leadership: The Right Stuff
Rew A. Godow, Jr .....................................................................................................17

Chaucer, Mountain Hiking, and Honors Program leadership
Sam Schuman...........................................................................................................25

Riding a Unicycle Across a Bridge While Juggling: The Musing of an Honors Administrator
Bonnie Irwin.............................................................................................................29

At Play on the Fields of Honor(s)
Larry Andrews.........................................................................................................33

Success as an Honors Program Director: What does it Take?
Bruce Fox...................................................................................................................37

Being There for Honors Leadership
Lisa L. Coleman.......................................................................................................41

“Ah well! I am their leader; I really ought to follow them”; Leading Student Leaders
Keith Garbutt...........................................................................................................45

Leadership in Honors: What is the Right Stuff?
George Mariz............................................................................................................49

A View from the Shoulders
Rosalie C. Otero.......................................................................................................53

Reminiscences on the Evolution of Honors Leadership
Len Zane...................................................................................................................57

Research Essays
Major Forerunners to Honors Education at the Collegiate Level
Anne Rinn.................................................................63
Student Outcomes and Honors Programs: A Longitudinal Study of 172 Honors Students 2000-2004
Frank Shushok..............................................................85
About the Authors.......................................................97
Publication order forms.............................................102

Volume 8, No. 1

Contents
Call for Papers.............................................................5
Submission Guidelines..................................................5
Dedication to Jeffrey A. Portnoy.......................................7
Editors Introduction
Ada Long.........................................................................9

Honoring Virginia Tech
“To Honors People Everywhere” and
“All Have Seen the Treasure of the University: Its People”
Charles (Jack) Dudley, Virginia Tech University ..................15

Forum on “Grades, Scores, and Honors”

“Grades, Scores, and Honors: A Numbers Game?”
Larry Andrews...........................................................23
Evaluation vs. Grading in Honors Composition, or How I Learned to Stop Worrying about Grades and Love Teaching
Annmarie Guzy...........................................................31
To Speak or Not to Speak: That is the Question
Joyce Fields...............................................................37
Grades, Scores, and Education
Ryan Brown..............................................................41
Grades, Marks, and Scores, Oh My!
Rosalie Otero............................................................45
Searching for Tatiyana
Sriram Khe...............................................................49
I Love Numbers
Bruce Fox.......................................................................53
Balancing on the Edge of Honors: A Mediation
Jeffrey A. Portnoy.......................................................55
Research Essays

Using Characteristics of K-12 Gifted Programs to Evaluate Honors Prorams
Mary K. Tallent-Runnels, Shana M. Shaw, and Julie Thomas..........................61
The Effects on Outcomes of Financing Undergraduate Thesis Research at Butler University
Ann M. Wilson and Robert F. Hoflin...............................................................77
Residential Housing Population Revitalization: Honors Students
David Taylor..............................................................................................89
Experimental Learning and City as Text: Reflections on Kolb and Kolb
Robert Strikwerda....................................................................................99

Portz-Prize-Winning Essay, 2006

The Virgin Mary: A Paradoxical Model for Roman Catholic Immigrant Women of the Nineteenth Century
Darris Catherine Saylors........................................................................109

About the Authors...................................................................................145
Publication order forms..........................................................................150

Volume 8, No. 2

Contents

Call for Papers............................................................................................5
Submission Guidelines...............................................................................5
Dedication to Larry Andrews.................................................................7
Editors Introduction
Ada Long..................................................................................................9

Forum on “Managing Growth in Honors”

Nothing Fails Like Success: managing Growth in a Highly Developed Honors Program
Peter C. Sederberg..................................................................................17
Robert Burns, Peter Sederberg, and Higher Education Administration
Ira Cohen.................................................................................................27
Important Issues for Growing and Honors Program
Nick Flynn..............................................................................................29
Growth = Bucks(?)
Gregory Lanier......................................................................................33
The (Un)familiar Library: Managing the Transmition for a Growing Number of Honors College Students
Jean E. McLaughlin................................................................................43
Balancing Low Growth with High Success
Robert Hogner......................................................................................47
Nothing Succeeds like Failure: Managing Loss in a Renascent Honors Program
Mike Davis..............................................................................................53
Getting More for Less; When Downsizing in Honors Yields Growth
Janet C. Myers and Mary Jo. Festle......................................................57
Research Essays

Honors Growth ad Honors Advising
   Robert Spurrier.................................................................69

The Irrelevance of the SAT in Honors?
   Sriram Khe.................................................................79

What is an Honors Student? A Noel-Levitz Survey
   Donald P. Kaczcinsky

Transformational Experience through Liberation Pedagogy: A Critical Look at Honors Education
   John Mihelich, Debbie Storrs, and Patrick Pellett

About the Authors.................................................................117
Publication order forms.............................................................126

Volume 9, No. 1

Contents

Call for Papers...........................................................................5
Submission Guidelines.............................................................5
Dedication to John Grady..........................................................7
Editors Introduction
   Ada Long..............................................................................9

Forum on “Honors Culture”

Defining Honors Culture
   Charlie Slavin ....................................................................15

The Culture of Honors
   George Mariz ....................................................................19

Creating an Honors Culture
   Jim Ford.........................................................................27

Honors Culture Clash: The High Achieving Student Meets the Gifted Professor
   Annmarie Guzy.................................................................31

The Prairie Home Companion Honors Program
   Paul Strong........................................................................35

The Times are A-Changin
   Dail Mullins.......................................................................41

Research Essays

The New Model Education
   Gary Bell...........................................................................47

The Role of Advanced Placement Credit in Honors Education
   Maureen E. Kelleher, Lauren C. Pouchak, and Melissa A. Lulay.............................................................61

Toward Reliable Honors Assessment
   Greg Lanier.......................................................................81
Volume 9, No. 2

Contents

Call for Papers..................................................................................................................................................5
Submission Guidelines.........................................................................................................................................5
Dedication to James Cummings.........................................................................................................................7
Editors Introduction
Ada Long..............................................................................................................................................................9

Forum on “Honors and Academic Integrity”

Honors, Honor Codes, and Academic Integrity: Where do the Converge and Diverge?
D. Bruce Carter..................................................................................................................................................15

Academic Dishonesty and the Culture of Assessment
Emrys Westacott................................................................................................................................................21

Speeding is Okay and Cheating is Cool
Alison Chell Witte...............................................................................................................................................29

Plato among the Plagiarists: The Plagiarist as Perpetrator and Victim
Richard English...................................................................................................................................................35

Authenticity in Marco Polo’s Story and in Honors Student Research: An Aside from the Early Renaissance
Bill Knox...............................................................................................................................................................39

Research Essays

On Training Excellent Students in China and the United States
Ikuo Kitagaki and Donglin Li...........................................................................................................................45

Honors Admissions Criteria: How Important are Standardized Tests?
Raymond J. Green and Sandy Kimbrough.........................................................................................................55

Is Student Participation in an Honors Program Related to Retention and Graduation Rates?
Charlie Slavin, Theodore Coladarci, and Phillip A. Pratt..................................................................................59

Volume 10, No. 1

Contents

Call for Papers......................................................................................................................................................6
Submission Guidelines..........................................................................................................................................6
Dedication to James Mitch Pruitt.........................................................................................................................7
Editors Introduction
Ada Long...............................................................................................................................................................9

Forum on “Social Class and Honors”

Honors is Elitist, and What’s Wrong with That?
Norm Weiner.......................................................................................................................................................19

A Blue Collar Honors Society
Annmarie Guzy..................................................................................................................................................25
Class, Honors, and Eastern Kentucky: Why We Still Need to Try to Change the World
Linda Frost.................................................................31
The Two Year College Honors Program and the Forbidden Topics of Class and Cultural Capital
Charlotte Pressler..........................................................37
On Class and Class
Joan Digsby...................................................................43
To the Charge of “Honors is Elitist,” on Advice of Counsel We Plead “Guilty as Charged”
Robert Spurrier.................................................................49
Elitism Misunderstood: In Defense of Equal Opportunity
Anne N. Rinn and Craig T. Cobane.....................................53
Dealing with Subjective and Objective Issues in Honors Education
Michael Giazzoni and Nathan Garbutt..................................57
Does Broad-Based Merit Aid Affect Socioeconomic Diversity in Honors?
Lisa DeFrank-Cole, Rose Cole, and Keith Garbutt.....................61
Honors Need Diversity More than the Diverse Needs Honors
William A. Ashton............................................................65
Honors and Class
Bernice Braid ..................................................................69

Research Essay

Predicting Retention in Honors Programs
Kyle McKay...................................................................77

Volume 10, No. 2

Contents

Call for Papers......................................................................5
Submission Guidelines...........................................................5
Dedication to James Mitch Pruitt..............................................7
Editors Introduction
Ada Long...........................................................................9

Forum on “Honors in the Digital Age”

Honors in the Electronic Age
George Mariz..................................................................17
Emily Walshe..................................................................23
Immigrant Song: A Cautionary Note About Technology and Honors
Richard Badenhausen...........................................................29
Digital Deliberations
Stephen A. Yoder.................................................................35
It’s the Pedagogy, Stupid
Richard Ira Scott and Donna Bowman.................................41
Building a Better Honors Learning Community through Technology
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Action, Connection, Communication: The Honors Classroom in Digital Age</td>
<td>45</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Frances A. Kelleher and Susan Swartzlander</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Implementing Wikis in Honors Courses</td>
<td>49</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Phillip L. Frana</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Using Flickr to Connect a Multi-Campus Honors Community</td>
<td>53</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Laura A. Guertin and Courtney Young</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Clickin in the Honors Classroom: Using Audience Response Systems to Facilitate Discussion and Decision-Making</td>
<td>57</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Deborah Gentry</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Making Connections: Technology and Interaction in an Honors Classroom</td>
<td>61</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>John Doherty</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>IM Riff on the IT Overload</td>
<td>65</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Debra Holman</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Research Essays</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Assessing Student Learning in Community College Honors Programs Using the CCCSE Course Feedback Form</td>
<td>73</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Laura O. Ross and Marcia A. Roman</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Evolution and Human Nature: Comparing Honors and Traditional Pedagogies for the New Science of the Mind</td>
<td>93</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Scott M. James and Katherine Bruce</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thesis as Rhizome: A New Vision for the Honors Thesis in the Twenty First Century</td>
<td>103</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kaitlin Briggs</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Volume 11, No. 1

Contents

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Call for Papers</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Submission Guidelines</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dedication to Norm Weiner</td>
<td>7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Editors Introduction</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ada Long</td>
<td>9</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Forum on “Honors and Athletics”

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>College Sports, Honors, Five Liberal Lessons, and Milo of Crotona</td>
<td>15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sam Schuman</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GO HONORS!</td>
<td>21</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Joan Digby</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bridging to Jock-Geek Culture War</td>
<td>29</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bradley Bates and Carolyn Haynes</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A Collaborative Recruitment Model between Honors and Athletic Programs for Student Engagement and Retention</td>
<td>33</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rich Eckert, Ashley Grimm, Kevin Roth, and Hallie Savage</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Student Athletics and Honors: Building Relationships</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Honors Director as Coach: For the Love of the Game
Larry Clark

Honors and Athletics: The Sounds Body Thing
James Ruebel

Is Mens Sana in Copore Sano a Concept Relevant to Honors Students?
Kate Wintrol

Honors and Intercollegiate Athletics
Gary Bell

Research Essays

Learning Outcomes Assessment in Honors An Appropriate Practice?
Scott Carnicorn and Christopher Snyder

Information and Communication Technology Literacy among First year Honors and Non Honors Students: An Assessment
Boris Teske and Brian Etheridge

Volume 11, No. 2

Contents

Call for Papers.................................................................5
Submission Guidelines.......................................................5
Dedication to Charles Dudley..............................................7
Editors Introduction
Ada Long................................................................................9

Forum on “Helping Honors Students in Trouble”

Managing Trouble in Troubled Times: A Responsibility of Honors
Charles Dudley.................................................................15

Crisis in Wildress
Joan Digby...........................................................................19

Helping Honors Students in Trouble
Angela M. Salas..................................................................23

“Help, I need Somebody”: Rethinking How We Conceptualize Honors
Richard Badenhausen.......................................................27

Listening Lessons
Margaret Walsh.................................................................33

Honors Students in Crisis: Four Thoughts from the Field
Eric Ownes and Michael Giazzoni.....................................37

Hitting the Wall
Bonnie Irwin........................................................................43

Research Essays
What is Expected of Twenty-First Century Honors Students: An Analysis of an Integrative Learning Experience
  Celia Lopez Chavez and Ursula Shepard..........................................................57

Honors Programs in Four Year Institutions in the Northeast: A Preliminary Survey toward a National Inventory of Honors
  Richard England.................................................................71

Honors in Practice

Volume 2

Table of Contents

Editorial Policy.................................................................................................5
Submission Guidelines.......................................................................................5
Dedication to Ted Estees..................................................................................7
Editor’s Introduction
  Ada Long........................................................................................................9

Honors Designs

Honors in Chile: New Engagements in the Higher Education System
  Juan Carlos Skewes, Carlos Alberto Ciocio Sampaio..............................15
Dominican University of California’s Honors Program and its Relation to University Heritage and Mission
  Jayati Ghosh..............................................................27

Honors Initiatives

Community Beyond Honors: Butler University’s Community Fellows Program
  Margaret Brabant and Anne M. Wilson......................................................35
Leadership in Scholarship Program
  Matthew Smith and Jason Vallee..............................................................43
How to Develop and Promote an Undergraduate Research Day
  Michael Cundall Jr......................................................................................49
An Honors Pilot Course: Cross Cultural Service and Inquiry Based Learning in Merida, Mexico
  Theresa A. Minick and Victoria Bocchicchio..........................................59

Honors Strategies

They Filched Our Program! How to Turn That into a Good Thing
  Anne M. Wilson and Melissa Ludwa..........................................................73
Fun and Games of Teaching: Simulations in a Social Problems Course
  Lisa New Freeland.......................................................................................85
Using Peer Review in Honors Courses
  Jeffrey Stowell..............................................................................................97

Honors Institute
Overview of the NCHC Faculty Institute in Miami and the Everglades
Peter Machonis...................................................................................................................................103
“You’re Not the Typical Professors, Are You?": Reflections on the NCHC Faculty Institute in Miami and the Everglades
Joy Ochs...................................................................................................................................................105

Honors Syllabi

Cultural Enrichment: Finding Where You Fit, Exploring Individuality and Community
Leslie Hahn and Jim Rogers...................................................................................................................111
East Meets West (interdisciplinary)
Eliza Glaze and Philip Whalen.............................................................................................................117
Great Questions that have Changed the World
Dave Pruett..................................................................................................................................................121
The Legacy of Ancient Technology
Troy Lovata..............................................................................................................................................125
Science and Writing
John Charpie and Michael Shea...............................................................................................................129
Writing and American Rhetoric
Bebe Nickolai..........................................................................................................................................135

Volume 3

Table of Contents

Editorial Policy.........................................................................................................................................5
Submission Guidelines...............................................................................................................................5
Dedication to William Mech......................................................................................................................7
Editor’s Introduction
Ada Long....................................................................................................................................................9

Innovative Honors Courses

Learning a Practice Versus learning to be a Practitioner: Teaching Archaeology in an Honors Context
Troy Lovata.............................................................................................................................................15
Teaching Arts and Honors; Four Successful Syllibi
P. Brent Register, Robert Bullington.......................................................................................................29
Service Learning in the Honors Composition Classroom: What Difference Does it Make?
Ann T. Parker...........................................................................................................................................53
First Year Initiation Courses in Honors
Jim Lacey...................................................................................................................................................61
Teaching an Honors Course Tied to be a Large University Event
Anne M. Wilson, Tyler Blakley, Katherine Leciejewski.....................................................................69

Honors and Professional Schools

The Fessenden Honors in Engineering Program
Michael Giazzoni....................................................................................................................................79
Where are the Education Majors and Faculty?
Lynne Steyer Noble and Jennifer Dowling.................................83

Integrating an Honors Minor, Education Major and Global Teacher Preparation
David M. Bishop and Kelli Sittason...................................................87

Support and Services for Honors Students

More than an ID Number or a GPA: Developmental Advising in Honors
Jacqueline Klein, Lisa French, and Pamela Degotardi............................101

The Honors Community: Furthering Program Goals by Securing Honors Housing
Nancy Reichert......................................................................................111

The Advanced Classroom Technology Laboratory: Cultivating Innovative Pedagogy
Scott Carnicom, K. Watson Harris, Barbara Draude, Scott McDaniel........121

“BBQ with the Profs” and the Development of Collegial Associations
Craig Cobane and Lindsey Thurman.....................................................129

Honors Student Research

Multi-Level Benefits of Using Research Journals in Honors
Christina Ashby-Martin.........................................................................141

Ten Steps to Honors Publication: How Students Can Prepare Their Honors Work For Publication
Ellen Buckner.......................................................................................149

Sample Honors Syllabi

Looking to the Future: The Everglades from Beginning to End?
Peter Machonis / Devon Chram............................................................159

Disability: Past and Present
Carolyn Stuart and Mary Jo Festle......................................................165

Methods of Applied Mathematics
Bruce Bukiet and Roy Goodman..........................................................171

Social Sciences and Issues: Food and Culture
Leslie Donovan......................................................................................177

Monsters and Marvels: Through the Ages
Sarah Gordon.........................................................................................181

The Literature and Cinema of Revenge
Rusty Rushton......................................................................................187

Volume 5

Table of Contents

Editorial Policy.....................................................................................5
Submission Guidelines..........................................................................5
Dedication to Earl and Maggie Brown....................................................7
Editor’s Introduction
Ada Long...............................................................................................9
Important Speeches of 2008

Stability in the Context of Change
Hallie Savage.................................................................15

Ending in Honors
Samuel Schuman.............................................................19

People Who Think Otherwise
Kevin Donovan.................................................................27

Administrative Design

Implementing Honors Faculty Status: An Adventure in Academic Politics
Jesse Peters......................................................................33

Building an Honors Developmental Board
Scott Carnicom and Philip Mathis........................................41

Honors Ex Machina: Changing the Perceptions of Honors through Horizontal Integration, A Case Study
Timothy Hulsey...................................................................47

Separate but Equal: Will it Work For Professionals Honors Programs?
Beata M. Jones and Peggy Watson.......................................53

Curricular Designs

Combining Chemistry and College Writing: A New Model for an Honors Undergraduate Chemistry Course
Donna Chamely-Wiik, Jeffrey Galin, Krista Kasdorf................77

Bridging the Divides: Using a Collaborative Honors Research Experience to Link Academic Learning to Civic Issues
Alix Dowling Fink and M. Leigh Lunsford..........................97

Enhancing Environmental Literacy and Global Learning among Honors Students
Liza Davis.........................................................................115

Writing War: The Memorial Design Project
Janine Utell.........................................................................125

Paths to Knowledge as a Foundational Course in an Honors Program
Mark Vitha, Arthur Sanders, Colin Cairns..........................135

An Honors Director’s Credo
Angela Salas.........................................................................153

Programmatic Designs

Networking an Honors Community out of Fragmentation
Karlyn Koh, John Chaffee, and Edward Goodman..............161

Honors Ambassadors: A Framework for Enhancing Students and Program Development
Kristy Burton, Erin Wheeler McKenzie, and Patrick Damo......171

The Role of Peer Leaders in an Honors Freshman Experience Course
Melissa L. Johnson............................................................189

Honors in Living Learning Communities: A Model of Social Success and Collaboration
Eric Daffron and Christopher Holland.............................197

Honoring Experiential Education
Debra Holman, Tony Smith, and Evan Welch......................211
Volume 6

Table of Contents

Editorial Policy........................................................................................................................................5
Submission Guidelines.............................................................................................................................5
Dedication to Donzell Lee..........................................................................................................................7
Editor’s Introduction
Ada Long.....................................................................................................................................................9

Research Matters

Conducting Research in Honors
   Emily Walshe.......................................................................................................................................17

Is Originality an Appropriate Requirement for Undergraduate Publication?
   Nathan Hilberg.......................................................................................................................................57

Individual Achievement in an Honors Research Community: Teaching Vygotsky’s Zone of Proximal Development
   Kaitlin A Briggs.......................................................................................................................................61

Student Guided Thesis Support Groups
   Jennifer beard, Ryan Shelton, Amanda Stevens.................................................................................69

Curriculum Matters

More than just a Coin Flip: Improving Honors Education with Real Time Simulations Based on Contemporary Events
   Kurt Hackemer.......................................................................................................................................75

To Discuss or Not to Discuss: Integrating Pedagogies for Honors and Mathematics
   William Griffiths, Nancy Reichert, and L.R. Ritter.............................................................................85

French a la Carte: Maintaining a Language Program on a Shoestring
   Sheulagh Margaret Riordan..................................................................................................................85

The Value of Extending the Honors Contract Beyond One Semester: A Case Study with Smithsonian Dinosaurs
   Alyce Dilauro, Teron Meyers, and Laura Guertin.................................................................................109

Service Learning and SkunkWorks in a Senior Honors Colloquium
   Michael Cundall....................................................................................................................................117

Beyond the Great Books: Increasing the Flexibility, Scope, and Appeal of an Honors Curriculum
   Matthew Altman.....................................................................................................................................125

Programmatic Matters

Students Engaging Students in Honors Experience
   Sara Brady, Hesham Elnagar, and Shane Miller.....................................................................................143

Ad Tracking
   William Ashton, Barbara Ashton, Renny Eapen....................................................................................163

Big Ideas Matter
From the White House to Our White House: The Story of an Honors College Vegetable Garden
Michael Lund and Geoffrey Orth..................................................177

Studies in Cyberspace Honors, Professional Teacher Development, Curricular Development, and Systematic Change in Louisiana
Brian Etheridge, Galen Turner, Health Tims, and Christian Duncan......189

Fertile Ground: Reflections on Collaborative Student –Faculty Research in the Arts
Mimi Killginner and Aya Myers.....................................................203

Looking Back Matters

Teamwork for NCHC
Lydia Lyons.................................................................................209

When it comes Time Not to Jump The Shark: Stepping Down as the Director
Nick Flynn..................................................................................215

Celebrating Twenty Years of Honors through Oral History: Making an Honors Program Video Documentary
Catherine Irwin...........................................................................221

Becoming Part of a Story
Tedd Estess.................................................................................235

Volume 7

Table of Contents

Editorial Policy..............................................................................5
Submission Guidelines.....................................................................5
Dedication to Vishnu Bhatia............................................................7
Editor’s Introduction
Ada Long......................................................................................9

President’s Address

A Penny’s Worth of Reflections on Honors Education
John Zubizarreta...........................................................................15

On Collaborative Course Projects

Into the Afterlife and Back with Honors Students
Kateryna Schray........................................................................21

The Last Class: Critical Thinking, Reflection, Course Effectiveness, and Student Engagement
Elizabeth Bleicher........................................................................39

Designing a Collaborative Blog about Student Success
Melissa Johnson, Alexander Plattner and Lauren Hundley.............53

On Curriculum

Why Honors Students Still need First year Composition
Annmarie Guzy...........................................................................63
Rethinking Asian Studies in the Interdisciplinary Honors Setting
Adam D. Frank........................................................................................................71

Understanding and Defining Addictions in an Honors Context
Sarah Feldstein Ewing and Bevin Ehn.................................................................87

Team Teaching on a Shoestring Budget
Jim Ford and Laura Gray.....................................................................................103

On Mentor Programs

Beyond Formulas: A Collaboration between Liberal Arts Honors Underclassmen and Senior Math Majors
Alissa Crans and Robert Rovetti........................................................................115

Peer Review Across Disciplines: Improving Student Performance in the Honors Humanities Classroom
Julie Barst, April Brooks, Leda Cempellin and Barb Kleinjan.........................127

An Honors Alumni Mentor Program at Butler University
Jaclyn Dowd, Lisa Markus, Julie Schrader, and Anne Wilson.......................137

On Outreach

The Neptune Academy: Honors Students Give Back
Douglas Corbitt, Allison Wallace, Corey Womack and Patrick Russell....153

Self as Text: Adaptations of Honors Practice
Michaela Smith....................................................................................................175

On Master Plans

Preparing a Master Plan for an Honors College
John Vile.............................................................................................................183

Some Multidisciplinary Practices
Kathleen Black....................................................................................................197

Volume 8

Table of Contents

Editorial Policy....................................................................................................5
Submission Guidelines.......................................................................................5
Dedication to Gary Bell.......................................................................................7
Editor’s Introduction
Ada Long.............................................................................................................9

Presidential Address

We are the Stories We Tell
Bonnie Irwin ...................................................................................................17

New Ideas for Honors Courses

Honoring the National Parks: A Local Adaptation of a Partners in the Parks Aventure
Joan Digsby and Kathleen Nolan ................................................................. 23
Turning Challenges into Gold: Cross-Listing Introductory Honors with Advanced Classes in Visual Arts
Leda Cempellin ........................................................................................................ 35
Death- Planning for the Inevitable: A Hybrid Honors Course
Jennifer Gresham, Betty Carlson, Marty Gibson .................................................. 43
Honors Analytics: Science, An Interdisciplinary Lab-Based Course on Visual Perception
Stephen Campbell, Robert Grammar, Lonnie Yandell ........................................... 55
Women Shaping Their World: An Honors Colloquium
Julie Marst, Julie lane, and Christine Nunez .......................................................... 63
Designing a First-year Honors Course Seminar with A Whole New Mind
Ellen Goldberger .................................................................................................... 79
On Honors Students Dreaming the Gothic
Mark Boren ........................................................................................................... 85
The Place of Drawing in Place Journaling
Alison Wallace ....................................................................................................... 101
Honors Pre-Thesis Workshop, 2.0
Aaron Coey and Carolyn Haynes ........................................................................... 109

New Ideas For Honors Administration

Developing an Electronic Repository For Undergraduate Theses
Foster Levy, Rebecca Pyles, Celia Szarejko ........................................................... 135
An Outcome-based Honors Program: The Honors Option Points (HOP’s) System
Bradley Wilson ...................................................................................................... 147
Doing the Honors: How to Implement a Departmental Honors Program in a Business School
Julie Urda ............................................................................................................... 161
The Institutional Impact of Honors through a Campus Community Common Read
Timothy Nichols ................................................................................................... 175
Affirming Quality Teaching: A Valuable Role for Honors
Kevin Dean and Michael Jendzurski ................................................................. 183